Danny Siegel's
Mitzvah Heroes in the United States -*The Movie

MEET: Ranya Kelly...an ordinary housewife who turned a search for a cardboard box into a multi-million dollar recycling project long before the word "green" was in fashion.

MEET: Syd Mandelbaum...a scientist by profession who recognized the many alternate sources of good, wholesome food that could feed hungry people—even from rock concerts.

MEET: Ron Adams and the Kids from Quincy, Massachusetts who have proven that even middle-school students can change the world in significant ways.

These extraordinary ordinary people are joined in this film by seven other good people. Each shares, first-hand, the inspiring story of how they began their work on behalf of tikkun olam. Many of the stories in the film are also highlighted in the Ziv Giraffe Tikkun Olam Program, authored by Rabbi Steven Bayar, making it a perfect accompaniment to that curriculum. Also available is a teacher's guide.

The Ziv Tzedakah Fund has now generously made the film available for distribution through the Good People Fund. Because we believe this is such an important resource for educators, the Good People Fund will provide a copy without cost to any educator requesting a copy. Others requesting a copy are asked to pay a nominal $4.00 charge to cover the Fund's costs of postage and handling.
